Naming the New Streets.

Noticing in yesterday's issue of your valuable paper the map showing first section of street extension as approved by the highway commission, it appears to me that to continue the lettering system on the plan continue the lettering system on the plan shown on the map would tend to puzzle strangers traveling about our city, and even our own citizens and the letter carriers in the delivery of mails coming in the city from persons having no knowledge of our street system. As a reader of The Star permit me to make this suggestion: If the lettering system is to be continued for four successive times, would it not be proper to use as many letters to show the number of times a street had been named by the same times a street had been named by the same letter, thus A street above Florida avenue would be represented Aa, and A street above Rock Creek cemetery, Aaa, and so on, to the District line, other letters being used the same way.

Assistant Postmaster Sherwood Succeeded by Mr. J. Edwin Wilson.

Capable Washingtonian, Who is

Postmaster Willett yesterday accepted the resignation of Mr. Henry Sherwood, the assistant postmaster, which had been n his hands since March 11 last, and appointed Mr. J. Edwin Wilson, superintend-ent of the supply division of the Post Office Department, to the position. The change was made late in the evening, and when it became generally known the selection of became generally known the selection of Mr. Wilson was generally and cordially ap-proved. He is a young man and the son of Mr. Jesse B. Wilson, president of the Lincoln National Bank and the owner of large interests in the city and District. For several years he was engaged in busi-ness with his father, afterward taking a ness with his father, afterward taking a responsible position in the jewelry house of Henry Semken. When the latter retired from business Mr. Wilson was appointed to a position in the general post office, where his abilities and merits were quickly and substantially recognized. He has brought the supply division up to a high grade of efficiency, and it is a matter of regret to the Postmaster General and the other post office authorities that he is to be transferred to another branch of the service. Personally Mr. Wilson is of genial disposition and enjoys a wide popularity in Washington, where he was born and reared. He will take charge of his new duties as sup his work in the supply division, which will take some time. He is a democrat, but has never taken any active part in politics.

will take some time. He is a democrat, but has never taken any active part in politics.

The retiring assistant postmaster leaves an enviable record for efficiency and popularity behind him. Mr. Sherwood is from Michigan, and was in charge of the post office of the United States House of Representatives in 1883, when Postmaster Frank B. Conger appointed him as his assistant. Upon the incoming of a democratic administration Mr. Ross, now District Commissioner, was made postmaster, and retained Mr. Sherwood as his assistant, because of his superior attainments for the work under his care. When Mr. Ross was appointed District Commissioner by President Harrison, Mr. Sherwood was made postmaster of Washington, and continued in office until succeeded by Postmaster Willett. The latter recognized his predecessor's abilities by appointing I im assistant postmaster, and the relations between them have been exceedingly pleasant and harmonious. Mr. Sherwood is probably responsible to a greater degree than any one else for the remarkably perfect system which has made the Washington post office the model one of the country, and his departure from office is a source of much regret to his associates who had been with him for so long. He will remain in Washington, but his plans for the future have not been fully formulated.

DOUBLE CHARGES.

An Ice Wagon Takes Up the Whole Street.

Michael Burke and Charles Burrows had an unpleasant experience at the corner of Pennsylvania avenue and 9th street about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and now they are both to be tried in the Police Court. The Cranford Paving Company is doing some concrete work along the line of the new electric road at the crossing, and who is employed as watchman by the com-pany, stood there and waved teams around pany, stood there and waved teams around the newly laid pavement. Burrows, who was driving a heavy ice wagon, came along and refused to turn his horses to one side when the watchman motioned to him. The watchman, it is charged, grabbed the animals by the bridle, and while holding them, it is alleged, he struck one of the animals over the head with a piece of board. When the driver got his animals started again, it is charged, he started to drive over the soft concrete, and drove in so reckless a manner that he not only injured the new pavement, but knocked down and injured the watchman. His injuries, however, are not serious, although bystanders thought he would be picked up dead when the wagon had passed over him.

The cases were called in the Police Court today, but as the parties were not ready for trial a continuance until tomorrow was granted.

GARBAGE REGULATIONS. The Time Has Come for Their Rigid

The time allowed by the Commissioner to the housekeepers to comply with the garbage regulations has elapsed, and within a few days proceedings will be instituted in the Police Court against those COMMISSIONER OF DEEDS AND NOTARY PUBwho have failed to comply with them. These regulations have been neatly printed on a card and distributed throughout the city. A perusal of them at this time will be of benefit. Among other things, the householder must provide a suitable receptacle for garbage, provided with a tight cover, and keep the same in repair. It must be placed between 7 o'clock in the morning until 6 o'clock in the evening in a morning until 6 0 clock in the evening in a place convenient and easily accessible to the collector. Another important provision is that each householder having a street and alley entrance shall place at the alley entrance the street and number of the house. Failure to comply with these regulations makes the offender liable to a fine of not more than $50 nor less than $5 and in not more than $50 nor less than $5, and in default of payment imprisonment in the work house for not more than thirty days.

To Hold the Money. Judge Cole has issued an injunction against John M. Johnson, restraining him from making any disposition of $480.62, the proceeds of a sale, until further order of the court. In execution of a judgment in favor of Samuel Z. McLaughlin against McLaughlin & Fitsimmons, tailors, Johnson July 19 last seized a quantity of the stock belenging to the latter at 1003 Penn-sylvania avenue northwest, and removed it to an auction establishment, where it it to an auction establishment, where it was sold.

Messrs. Wanamaker & Brown, holding a lien against McLaughlin & Fitzsimmons for rent due, petitioned the court to prevent Johnson from disposing of the cash secured by the sale until their claim should be settled. Hence the injunction granted.

The Pension Fund. Friends of the policemen and widows and orphans of policemen who are entitled to pensions under the provisions of the pension act have arranged for an excursion down the river on the 19th of this month, and members of the force are now engaged in selling tickets for the excursion. At the in selling fickets for the excursion. At the last session of Congress an appropriation of $4,000 was made. This, together with what funds have been obtained from other sources, will allow the payment of about 60 per cent of the amounts to which the pensioners are entitled. Later in the year the funds will not justify the payment of even this much.

Ossie Klinger's Appointment.

Ex-Policeman Ossie Klinger, who sevred his connection with the police force isst year, when he figured in the crusade against some of the Scuth Washington liquor dealers, has again been provided for by the Commissioners. This time he has been made telephone operator at police headquarters, to fill the vacancy caused by the removal of Frank Austin, who went west last week without tendering his resignation. It is thought that this appointment is only a temporary one, and that he will be given something better later on.

George H. Vrooman, the junior member of the firm of Bradley & Vrooman, Chicago, died in the swimming tank of the Chicago Athletic Club yesterday. Mr. Vrooman had Athletic Club yesterday. All, violatinal had been swimming in the tank for several minutes, and was climbing out when he gasped, reeled and fell back into the water. The doctor worked over him for fully half an hour without getting a sign of life from him, and finally gave up the task.
